THE RAYMOND LION

The Raymond Lions Club met under a completely new set-up on Monday evening, November 5th. At the usual time the gang collected at the Legion Hall for the regular bi-monthly session. The catering has been undertaken by Mrs. Mary Thompson and Mrs. McKean. They served a very satisfying family style dinner to twenty-eight Lions and our two guests. The President, Arledge Hill, conducted the meeting from the head table supported by the Vice-Presidents, all of whom were there and ready to work.

The Program Chairman, Deb Thompson, introduced Kay Salmon and his accompanist, Gladys Holt, as special guests. After enjoying the meal with us they entertained us with two very beautiful numbers.

A lively sing-song led by Joe McLean set the pattern for a busy business meeting. The Tall Twister, Loran Larsen, kept everybody on his toes and incidentally kept the boys reaching for another dime. Besides getting your goat and dime he can think of the darndest things that he figures is worth a dime.

A committee has been appointed to investigate the telephone service. Business men think that service should be improved—most especially another line between here and Lethbridge.

had no further developments to tell.

The sale of tickets for our project to raise funds in connection with Vulcan's new arena is progressing fairly well. Bill Greep has done as much as the rest of the Club in a pile.

A Directors Meeting followed the General. The whole executive was present. P. K. brought up the canvas for the blind and the survey work in the schools. These are both continuous functions in the Raymond Lions Club. The Board gave him the green light for his usual plans for survey work. Much good has come from this annual service and many students have been aided by discovering their deficiency in eye sight. Parents and teachers have been enthusiastic in their expression of appreciation of this Lions Service.

The first meeting in December will be special—the Club will entertain all Lionesses in the town. Are you one? Be there!

Just Words

A careless word may kindle strife;
A cruel word may wreck a life.
A bitter word may hate instill;
A brutal word may smite and kill.
A gracious word may smooth the way;
A joyous word may light the day.
A timely word may lessen stress;
A loving word may heal and bless.

Mrs. Lee Bullock entertained at a Kitchen Shower Monday evening in honor of Darselle West. The girls had a very enjoyable time making a Bride's Scrap Book, and visiting.

After the gifts were opened a delicious lunch was served. Donna and Sylvia Christensen, Joan Jessop, Dorothy Dawley, Janice West, Pat Meeks, Carol Larsen, Pat Strong and Madeline Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Harris of Magrath were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Klindt on Sunday.

Hi School Capers

By Renae Rasmussen

Lights blazed brightly from the school windows during the largest part of Halloween night, casting a weird glow upon the snow; protecting itself, and warning students against any plan of attack, or annual invasion. Inside, humped solemnly in a forlorn chair, sat in guard, in the form of a teacher, protecting his subject as he had been doing for the past few years. He was almost tempted to give up and leave the school to its dreadful fate, but pride and sense of duty, as only a teacher can have, held him to his task.

Despite all these warnings several tried to invade the school only to be damped by water showered on them by the faithful protector. Other than this feeble attempt nothing unusual occurred and much to our surprise (and disappointment) the school was in perfect order the day after.

Friday, Nov. 2, was the night of the Seminary party in the gym. The room was decorated with softly colored crepe paper. It was woven basket-like across the room from wall to wall forming a pleasant false ceiling to dance under. On the west side were game booths, daring young adventurers to try their skill and luck. Prizes were given to the winners. In the north part tables were arranged in cafe fashion, and in the corner a disguised fortune-teller sat gazing into the crystal ball, relating phony futures to all the interested fortune-seekers. Waitresses, looking much like gypsies, hurried here and there among the tables, serving the evening snack of ice cream, cookies and punch. The whole scene was enclosed by an ingenious picket fence decorated with pink flowers. Streamers hung from the ceiling hiding the scene from the dancers at the other end of the hall. In all it was an air of romance and mystery.

A program filled the evening, with Pat Strong giving the accompaniment to solos rendered by Colleen Housely, Charlene Sommerfeldt, Grace Selman and also Pat, Kay Salmon, Calvin Salmon and Delynn Hershey gave a very nice clarinet number.

Dancing reigned the remainder of the evening.

This proved to be a good as well as unusual party for the Seminary students.

Thanks, everyone who participated in its making.

Novel Halloween Party

Thursday evening a wide assortment of ghosts and witches and goblins and such made their spooky way to the home of Ghost and Ghostess Mose Fromm.

They thoroughly enjoyed an evening of Rook and viewing colored slides, during the middle of which their party was crashed by another group of eighteen or so spooks. However, they quietly departed after having their pictures taken.

Before the delicious lunch was served everyone was unmasked and the prize for the best costume presented to Mrs. Julia Tollestrup. It was discovered that the rest of the guests were the Rex Nielsens, Jack Evanses, Orson Bingham, Marion Tollestrups, John Smiths, Johnny Boehmes, Deb Olers and Lawrence Bacons.

IN FLANDERS FIELDS

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved, and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe;
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though Poppies grow
In Flanders Fields.

—John McCrae

The Story of the Poppy

The Poppy has a history dating back to antiquity. In the mythology of ancient China it was well known by the very potency of the drug distilled from it, as the flower of forgetfulness and through the ages it kept this meaning until the time of the Napoleonic Wars when a thoughtful and observant writer of the period first remarked the "intimate association of the scarlet poppy had with the graves of those who had fallen in battle."

In the First World War millions had the opportunity of observing this phenomenon in France and Flanders. They saw spring from the earth where their fallen comrades lay, a vast profusion of poppies waving defiantly at the terror of warfare and hiding from view the starkness and grimness of the beaten earth. Newcomers to the field of battle remarked on this to their comrades, and seasoned veterans replied, "Yes, it's like this every year, but them seem to increase in number each time they blossom." Perhaps it was from these words that the association between the blood shed on the field of battle and the blood red poppy first grew up in men's minds.

Certainly it is impossible to prove that the idea of associating the poppy with the blood shed in sacrifice by our gallant warriors originated with any one particular person in any one particular place.

In the United States the idea for Poppy Day is attributed to a fair, blue-eyed lady who died in Milwaukee a short time ago at the age of 86. The story goes that Mary Haney got the inspiration from John McCrae's immortal poem "In Flanders Fields" and

Wedding Vows Taken At the Stake House

Bullock - West

Wednesday evening, November 7th marriage vows were exchanged between Darselle West, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deral West, and Kimball youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Bullock, Welling, in the Stake House. Bishop Wm. Jensen performed the ceremony before the immediate family and friends.

The radiant bride entered the room which had been beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers, bells and green fern, on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. The Wedding March was played by Mrs. Emma Dahl.

The gown of traditional white satin, chosen by the bride, featured a v-neckline edged with lace matching that on the peplum. Similar lace also edged the fingertip veil which fell from the coronet of lily-of-the-valley. She carried a lovely bouquet of red roses and white mums.

The bride's attendants, Barbara Burbank and Janice West her cousin and aunt, wore gowns of pastel shades and carried rose and carnation nosegays.

The groom was supported by C. J. McLean as best man.

Mrs. West chose for her daughters wedding a navy blue petie point frock and Mrs. Bullock chose a black crepe; both mothers wore corsages of red roses.

Geraldine Tillack, Recent Bride Showered

A large group of friends gathered at the Glen Meeks home Friday evening to honor Mrs. Jim Tillack, nee Geraldine Jones, a recent bride, at a Calling Shower sponsored by Beth Galbraith, Helen Babb, Lucille Evans and Phil Meeks.

The guests were greeted by the bride, Mrs. Babb and the groom's mother, Mrs. Frances Tillack. Mrs. Mildred Attwood presided at the Guest Book while Penny Tillack took care of the guests' coats. Yvonne Jones, Marilyn Tillack and Eleanor Smith received and displayed the many beautiful gifts.

Lucille Evans seated the guests at attractively arranged tables where they were served a dainty lunch by Ruth Nalder and Hazel Meldrum assisted by the Fourth Ward Mutual Ladies in the behind the scenes activities. Rose and white mums lent a festive air to the happy occasion.

COMRADES COLUMN

The past week has been marked as Remembrance Week throughout Canada. One of the objects and purposes of the Canadian Legion is to perpetuate the memory and deeds of the fallen and of those who die in the future.

With this objective in mind the local Legion Branch has spent a busy week preparing a suitable climax to Remembrance Week.

We were pleased to see the announcement in the press during the past week that a Civil Defence Controller had been appointed for the town of Raymond.

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. It is far better to be prepared for Civil Defense and never have to use it, than it would be not to be prepared should the need arise. A Civil Defense organization can be far more useful to a Community than simply preparing for a Russian A-Bomb attack. Large numbers of personnel must be trained in such lines as first aid, fire fighting, police work, transportation, communication etc.

While we do not live in an area that is subject to disaster, one never knows when an emergency may arise and when it does, preparation is a fine thing. The Canadian Legion and its membership stand ready to co-operate with the Civil Authorities in this endeavour.

They say that Safety begins between the ears. This being the case let us start at the beginning and see what can be done to make Raymond streets safer for the Raymond students. Speeding is not rampant in the town. On most streets that is out of the question. Highway Traffic Board regulations are now enforced.

Raymond is blessed with many a mile of good concrete sidewalks. Then why do students persist in walking to and from school down the middle of the streets. Were there no sidewalks it would be a toss up as to who could holler the loudest, students, teachers or parents. This not being the case, students must be brought to realize that when they take to the middle of the road they endanger not only their lives but also the patience and property of the motoring public.

Construction has started on the new Raymond High School. This building will fill a long felt need. As is done in all civil projects of this nature, tenders were called for (lowest or any bid not necessarily accepted). While we were not present at the opening of the tenders, we are of the opinion that the lowest one was accepted.

However, when letting this contract did the board stop to consider what portion of the construction costs would be spent at home.

This contract, of something close to one quarter of a million dollars, was let to an outside firm. Now we are wondering how many sub-contracts for such things as material, heating, plumbing, wiring, etc. will be let to local companies. Judging from all immediate signs; not many. Thus the taxpayer sits idly by and watches his dollars drift out of town. Small wonder for a town with a Buy At Home Policy.

had it adopted as the symbol of remembrance by a post of the American Legion.

In Britain the first poppies sold were made by women and children from the devastated areas of France where the real poppies were still in bloom.

In Canada, the earliest reference to the Flanders Poppy as a symbol of remembrance is contained in an excerpt from the minutes of a meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association held at Port Arthur in July, 1921. It reads: "Following a motion suspending the regular order of business, Madam E. Guerin, 'The Poppy Lady of France', was presented to the conference and invited to outline her suggestion as to the adoption of the poppy as a national emblem to be worn on Armistice Day in memory of fallen comrades. It was moved by Comrade Churney, seconded by Comrade Hamilton that this conference, representing the Dominion Command of the G.W.V.A. of Canada hereby approves the proposal that the citizens of this Dominion of Canada accept the poppy as its flower of remembrance and recommend that the poppy be worn on the anniversary of Armistice Day."

The first poppies sold in Canada were also those made by women and children of France. But the next year, following the leadership of the British Legion, the poppies that were sold on the streets of our towns and cities were made by disabled Canadian veterans who understood only too well their significance.

Each year the number of poppy emblems distributed throughout Canada has steadily increased until last year over four million poppies were worn by Canadians. Through the Canadian Legion's National Poppy Campaign this symbol has come to stand for more than mere remembrance of the dead. In the hands of this organization it has come to mean a source of solace in time of trouble and hope for the future. It has become a source of useful employment for disabled veterans both in the Vetcraft Shops and in the homes of those unable to stand the strain of regular employment. In the face of this it is not surprising that John McCrae's poem has come to be more and more associated with Poppy Day, for it seems to speak of all those things which the poppy symbolizes.

Wedding Vows

Jeanine Jensen sang "Through The Years" during the signing of the Register.

A Reception was tendered the newly weds immediately following the ceremony, at which many friends called to wish the couple much happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bullock greeted the guests at the door and Madeline Smith Dorothy Dawley, Maxine Piegrass and Pat Meeks accepted and displayed the numerous gifts. Gladys Holt was in charge of the Guest Book.

The delicious lunch prepared by Mesdames Carol Shaw, Irene Allred, Elaine Oler and Vera Dawley, was served the guests at prettily decorated tables by Sylvia Christensen, Joan Jessop, Marie Thompson, Nola Nelson Vonnice Peterson and Karen McLean, all of whom wore attractive evening dresses. Jolayne Hill was in charge of the seating arrangements.

A beautiful three tiered wedding cake nestled in a bed of smilax, graced the Bride's Table which was covered by a lovely lace table cloth. Slender tapers flanked the cake on either side.

On the other side of the pink and white streamer and floral partition a program was presented for the enjoyment of the guests. Bill Nalder was the genial M. C. who sandwiched jokes and stories between the following numbers:

Piano solo by Pat Strong; vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. John Wolsey; a solo by Mrs. Jeanine Jensen; a Reading by Mrs. Augusta Bullock and the concluding number, a solo by Miss Gibb.

For their honeymoon trip to the States Mrs. Bullock wore a silver grey satin dress trimmed with black velvet, to which she pinned a corsage of red roses. Her accessories were also black.

Out of town guests were from Taber, Barnwell, Stirling, Magrath, Wellington and Lethbridge.

The Fourth Ward Priests Class honored Glen Litchfield recently at a Farewell Party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Orson Bingham. Bishop and Mrs. Snow and Mrs. Litchfield were also present.

After viewing pictures taken by Dr. Brewerton and enjoying a pie and ice-cream bust, the Guest of Honor was presented with a book from the class.

Glen Litchfield left on Wednesday for Salt Lake where he will attend Mission School prior to sailing for Samoa. He will sail from Los Angeles sometime around the 18th of the month.
